

Lights up on WARREN.

WARREN

Remember me? ("I drop bombs like Hiroshima")

Guys like me come home like zombies and land in jail, or in a mental hospital, or out on the street—or fucking DEAD by their own hand-- and nobody cares. Nobody fuckin' cares, because we're not people; we're pawns. We're fucking pawns... and there's no justice because even though we give our lives and our fucking sanity to protect the U.S. Constitution, the U.S. Constitution DOES. NOT. APPLY. to us. It doesn't apply to us. You got that? Am I making myself clear enough?

Remember me? ("I have no remorse")

I don't give a fuck about this country. I wouldn't give a fuck if it got blown to kingdom come tomorrow. They stole this land from the people who rightfully owned it. And for what? Dolla-dolla bill, Man. It's all about fuckin' money. It's all an illusion so the rich can stay rich. I went away to war and there I had power and influence and then I come home and I don't have shit. So don't give that "Thank you for your service" bullshit, okay? That doesn't help me. I can't sleep at night because all I see is half-blown off faces in my dreams, but the rich keep on counting their money...

Without no rehearsal, I leak words that's controversial

My personal opinion is that if you are stupid enough to join the military and be a cog in the corporate machine that is this fucked up nation be my guest. It doesn't matter who you are, man, woman, it's all the same to me. If you are willing to risk your life and kill people to keep the lies going you deserve what happens to you. So fuck 'em all. You hear me?! FUCK. THEM. ALL!!!! Bring on Armageddon, son. Where's my apocalypse at?! I'm fuckin' ready.

Pulls his pocket knife out and carves on the table as he raps.

Remember me? ("Throw ya gunz in the air!")
